

Results Framework for Place-based Partnerships

Blue Meridian Partners and the communities we invest in subscribe to a results framework which acknowledges that individual milestones must be achieved across life stages. This framework also incorporates the surrounding community context which is critical to achieving these milestones.

This framework captures a subset of items that impact and influence a person's life. It was developed by The Social Genome Project – a partnership between the Brookings Center on Children and Families, the Urban Institute, and Child Trends – and supported by multiple other studies.